OSC, Joni Sandoval and ER Art Slayton

(b) (6) was concerned about his trees that date back 100-300 years, and long term effects of watering with water that may have a buildup of metals. He requested possible samples on his property although there was only orange staining noticed on a small pond in his front yard that OSC believes it can be flushed. He is concerned he may not be able to sell his property without supporting data testing was done. OSC explained health effects have not been identified as being an issue as well as there is no data to support elevated levels of metals in the water and soil currently. Need to follow up with owner on whether we can sample or not.
